

Luvgear Swimwear Alerts You To UV Rays

Posted by Lisa Estall

This is no ordinary swimwear. This clothing has alert icons sewn to the fabric alerting you to the level of UV ray exposure! Luvgear is bringing this new innovative clothing line to selected JCPenney stores. It's called SunAlert and I've never seen anything like this before. The icon changes color to indicate levels and strength of UV rays. If the sun is pink, the outfit is exposed to low levels of UV. If it turns a darker shade of red, that means get your kid indoors as soon as possible! Seriously, it's a good product and very helpful to know how much sun your child is getting on hot summer days. Above is the girls' seahouse swimsuit. Click to see a cute looking blue coverup.

For more information, visit Luvgear.

+ DIGG + STUMBLE Buzz up!

Posted Apr 08 2009, 12:03 PM

Filed under: bathing suit, bathing suits, Bathing suit cover up, bathing suit with UPF, Luvgear